Bingo issue still not settled as house lottery bill fails

BY DENA BISNETTE
Some members of the Mississippi Legislature are trying to settle the bingo issue by making provisions for the game's use by non-profit organizations.

The controversy began about a week ago when a Hinds County Chancery Court judge ruled that bingo was illegal because it falls under a constitutional ban on lotteries.

The ruling, issued by Judge W.O. Dillard after State Attorney General Mike Moore requested a court action on the matter, was actually targeting bingo establishments which were operated for profit and not for charitable purposes.

Moore has publicly stated that the investigation which resulted in the ruling and the closing of several allegedly "for-profit" bingo operations last week in the Jackson area began before the 1990 Legislature started discussions on a lottery bill that failed Wednesday and is being held on a motion to reconsider.

State Senator Victor Frankiewicz and State Representative J.P. Compretta met with Moore on Tuesday to discuss the bingo controversy and what must be done in order to allow non-profit games to continue.

"It's clear from a legal standpoint that the circuit judge's ruling from Hinds County is going to stick for the entire state," said Frankiewicz.

He believes the only way to allow charitable bingo operations is to amend the state constitution, which contains a prohibition against lotteries that Moore indicated applies to bingo as well.

The lottery bill that came out of committee in the house Tuesday does not cover bingo. Frankiewicz has introduced a bill that would make continuation of nonprofit bingos possible for fundraising purposes such as churches, veterans' organizations, education, civic projects, religious groups and wildlife conservation.

To be able to operate the bingo, the organization would first have to exist for five years.

reason bingo establishments have been moving to Mississippi from other states recently is due to the fact that Mississippi does not regulate bingo.

Another bill would have to be passed later to set hours, income reporting procedures and other rules for the game, Frankiewicz added. He said Senator Rob Smith has already proposed such a bill.

Frankiewicz said his own bill does stipulate that all proceeds from bingo must go to the organization the specific games are designed to benefit.

He said he considered Smith's bill "a very sensible bill" and would support it as well.

Frankiewicz also said some legislators are looking at bingo, in a taxed and regulated form, as an alternate source of revenue for Governor Ray Mabus' educational reform

Representative Gene Taylor sees the proposed Camp Shelby land swap as a way to save jobs, but numerous Gulf Coast residents see it as a threat to DeSoto National Forest.

Taylor has requested that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers conduct a public hearing on the Gulf Coast, which has been set for Monday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. in the Air National Guard building on Hewes Avenue, Gulfport.

A meeting at the Jackie Sherill Community Center in Hattiesburg Thursday night was attended by about 500 people representing both sides of the issue. At that meeting, Corps spokesman Lt. Col. Louis Martinez said the final decision on the swap would not be made until mid-1991.

The major proponents of the swap at the meeting were National Guard stickers or were members of the Hattiesburg Chamber of Commerce. Others included the local elected officials and some retail business owners.

A picket line of opponents were outside, with the Gulf Coast duo "Mississippi Mammas" singing an anti-land swap song. Major opponents include owners of property near the site, Citizens Against the Land Swap, Sierra Club, Coalition Against Swapping Mississippi Forests for Dust and the local Audubon Society.

Several employees of U.S. Forestry Service and the Mississippi Department of Fish and Wildlife Conservation were also present.

The chief executive officer of the Mississippi Wildlife Federation addressed the crowd, but stated that his organization will not take an official stand on the matter until after an environmental impact statement has been completed.

Although there was a five-minute time limit on comments from the audience, about 55 individuals or groups signed up to speak.

According to Bill Kulick of Ocean Springs, president of both the Gulf Coast and state Sierra Club chapters, the club feels the proposed trade-off of 32,000 acres of land the army is leasing from the U.S. Forest Service, all of which is in the

Bid accepted on bonds for new county building

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is in the process of finalizing a $1.2 million bond sale which will pay for a multi-purpose building to house several county agencies.

After two attempts to fund the building through a grant failed, the board agreed to the bond issue to finance the project, which when completed will house the county's welfare and health departments, Hancock County Extension Service, Social Security and the local office of Mississippi Employment Security Commission/Job Service.

On Tuesday, the board opened bids on sale of the bonds. The bank which submitted the bid the supervisors accepted was First Tennessee, which offered a 6.75 interest rate.

In other words, the board will end up paying a maximum of $748,202 in interest if the bonds are not paid back early. If they are, the interest will be less, said board attorney Gerald Gex.

The attorney said the validation procedure should be completed by Feb. 1. Advertising for a contractor to build the structure, designed by Bay St. Louis architect Michael Reeves for a location on Hancock County Civic Center property, should begin in mid-February. Completion of construction is expected in early 1991.

The employment office is presently located in the Valena C. Jones Center, which is owned by the city of Bay St. Louis rather than the county. The space for the office is supplied by the city as an in-kind service to the state.

According to Manager Ann Ladner, the office space has to be supplied free because the office is only a subdivision of the Gulfport office. Without the in-kind contribution from a local political entity, the office would close.

The former county nursing home houses the extension office, but the building no longer belongs to the county. When the vacated Hancock General Hospital building was sold in

Traffic stop ends with drug arrest

BY DENA BISNETTE

For the second time in less than one week, a routine traffic stop has resulted in a drug-related arrest by the Hancock Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force.

Task Force Agent James Varnell said Denise M. Andry of Waveland was stopped on Beach Boulevard by Waveland Police Officer Kent Malley at about 8:35 p.m. Sunday.

Malley, who had stopped her near Gulfside Assembly, told task force authorities she was speeding.

Andry was arrested and charged with a misdemeanor, possession of marijuana while operating a motor vehicle, Varnell said.

He said two small bags of the drug, a marijuana cigarette and some roaches were found in Andry's vehicle.

Varnell is in charge of the investigation.

The previous arrest occurred Wednesday, when four Bay St. Louis residents riding in one vehicle were arrested after a sheriff's deputy who stopped the car smelled cocaine and notified the task force.

Gerald Gex serves as the board of supervisors' attorney. His brother, Lucien Gex, is attorney for the Waveland Board of Aldermen and Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District.

Bay council denies variance

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday night turned down a zoning variance requested for a lot on Bouslog Street.

The property's owner, Mike Perniciaro, had requested the variance so he could divide the lot in order to build a house adjacent to another home on the lot.

The council's decision was in accordance with a recommendation by the city's Planning and Zoning Commission that the request be denied.

The request had gone before the council in December of last year but, after it was determined that the city had not properly advertised the hearing on the request, a new hearing had to be scheduled for earlier this week.

programs if the proposed state lottery does not pass.

In addition to out-and-out opposition, the lottery also has opposition from some legislators who do not object to lotteries in general but do not want the state involved.

Franckiewicz attempted to propose an amendment to the lottery bill Wednesday morning to allow bingo, but said the attempt was unsuccessful when the lottery bill failed.

Compretta said he was not doing anything about the bingo issue Tuesday as he waited for the senate to act on the lottery bill.

In addition, a representative from Hinds County had introduced a bill just prior to Monday's deadline for introductions which, if passed, will clarify the bingo issue. Compretta said he wanted to look at that bill before acting on the bingo issue himself.

He said he had not seen the text of the bill yet Tuesday afternoon because a record number of bills, more than 1900, has been introduced in the house alone during the 1990 session.

The house and senate together generally average about 2500 introductions, Compretta said.

He said ending bingo could create extensive problems for charitable agencies on the Gulf Coast.

Local authorities agree. District Attorney Cono Caranna said he wants to see nonprofit bingo continue, but is definitely against allowing for-profit operations.

"The curious thing about this is that while the attorney general is seeking to make it illegal, the legislature is still trying to look at taxing bingo as a revenue source for BEST (the name of the governor's educational package)," Caranna pointed out.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said he would not want to be the law enforcement officer who had to shut down the local bingos if the game is not legal.

"Stopping bingo in this county is like saying the Pope isn't going to say mass anymore," Peterson said.

"First, it would cause a tremendous loss of charitable monies," he added.

"And, it's a way of life. It's the way we were raised and it's something everybody does."

A number of organizations in Hancock County do use bingo for charitable projects. They range from the St. Stanislaus Sideline Club, which provides money for the care of the school's football field through games conducted in donated facilities, to churches and about a dozen veterans' organizations in various parts of the county.

Peterson said those hardest hit would probably be the veterans' groups, who have a higher overhead on their games because they supply facilities, utilities, security and other services for the games themselves.

The sheriff said he feels the bingo issue arose as part of a power struggle between the governor and the senate and that some legislators have been attempting to use bingo as a method of getting the lottery passed.

While he feels it is "just a stir and will calm down," Peterson does anticipate some changes in the provisions regarding nonprofit bingo operations and expects for-profit bingos to remain illegal.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The annual Bay Senior High DECA Career Day appears to have been a success once again.

It took a lot of planning on the part of several teachers and administrators in order for the program to be effective.

The Career Fair gives young people an opportunity to get a look at different career fields.

We would like to extend our appreciation to the many business and industry leaders who took their time to participate in the program.

It was good news to hear that Gregory Favre has been named vice president of news for the McClatchy Newspaper chain.

Many years ago Gregory, began his newspaper career at The Sea Coast Echo.

There are many folks across the nation who are very successful in the newspaper field whose first jobs were at the Echo.

Gregory is now the executive editor of The Sacramento Bee, a position he has held since 1984.

He is also a former managing editor of The Chicago Sun Times.

We wish Favre the best with his new position and additional responsibilities.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Public Retirement System is biggest financial institution

The biggest financial institution in Mississippi is not Jackson-based Deposit Guaranty National Bank with $3.5 billion in assets.

It's the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS), which had $4.1 billion in assets at the close of fiscal year 1989.

The good news for the 125,000 Mississippians covered by the system is that the growth of the state's retirement fund was little less than spectacular during the 1980s.

The system's assets increased from $1.2 billion in 1981 to $4.1 billion in 1989, much of it attributable to investments in the booming stock market.

Ironically, the Legislature didn't allow PERS to invest in common stocks until 1981. At first, the retirement system was limited to putting only 10 percent of its portfolio into common stocks, but after several legislative battles it was increased to 5 percent three years ago.

The system now has about 30 percent of its investments in stocks, and the rest in government or corporate bonds.

Last year, the system's stock investments did even better than the market generally and outperformed 89 percent of the other states. While the Standard & Poor 500 equity index, a standard of the stock market, rose 20.5 percent for the year, the Mississippi retirement system had a return of 22.6 percent on its stocks.

Bond investments also did well, producing a 12.7 percent return for the year, slightly better than the bond market generally.

Overall, the retirement system's assets increased last year by $425 million from both income and market appreciation. In rate of return, PERS investments had a 14.8 percent yield in 1989, ranking Mississippi in the top one-third of all state pension plans.

Earnings by PERS investments for the past five years have averaged 15.1 percent, even after the stock market crash in October, 1987.

Incidentally, while the Mississippi retirement plan had a paper loss of $15 to $20 million in the crash, it rode out the market and recovered the loss within a few months.

"We are not market chasers, our investments are for the long term," said James H. Dunn, deputy director for administrative services of PERS.

Dunn is now serving as acting executive secretary of PERS since the recent retirement of longtime director Fred M. Walker. A new full-time executive secretary, Dr. Milton G. Walker (no relation), now superintendent of schools in Columbia, is slated to take over in June.

Fred Walker had been the subject of some controversy a year or so ago when the board of trustees of the retirement system tried to raise his salary from $66,000 to $110,000 a year, but it was turned down by the State Personnel Board.

The salary of the incoming executive secretary has been raised by the Personnel Board to $70,000.

The 1989 Legislature had liberalized the retirement benefits for public employees as a sugar coating of a bill that had set up a separate retirement plan for legislators with higher benefits.

All retirees were given a 5 percent increase in their monthly benefits. And, prospective retirees were given major new benefits: The age for full retirement without reduced benefits was lowered from 65 to 60, after 30 years of service. Also the age for retirement at reduced benefits was lowered from 60 to 55, with 25 years service.

The new bill increased the retirement formula from 1 5/8 percent to 1 7/8 percent on the first 30 years of creditable service.

To help pay for the enhanced benefits and adjust actuarial requirements, the "unfunded liability" of the retirement fund was extended from 17.5 years to 28.8 years. This in layman's terms was like extending the time payment plan on a charge account while keeping monthly payments at the same amount you've been paying.

But, says Dunn, the retirement fund is fully capable of absorbing the increased benefits without any problem.

Tim, Rose, Gert, Anthony, Yvonne, and Ramon.

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off.

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins.

They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention.

In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%.

And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Taylor supports tax credits, fiscal reform

Everyday industries close down shops or reduce workforces in South Mississippi while they set up businesses overseas.

Many ask what a freshman Congressman can do about this. My goal is to head off the threat of foreign competition, encourage the expansion of industry at home and support basic changes in the way the government conducts its business.

As you know, the best way to improve the economy at home is to begin on a federal level.

First, investments in America need to be rewarded not penalized. House Resolution 3841 that I've introduced seeks to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to restore investment tax credits for American produced goods.

The bill would reinstate a law that gave industries credit for upgrading plants and factories on condition that the tax credit is tied to American made goods.

The president and his defense secretary have proposed $180 billion in defense cuts over the next three years. Protecting the billions of defense dollars that are spent in Mississippi will be one of my biggest challenges next congressional session.

It's vital that the defense industry be given the time to make a smooth transition from a Department of Defense dependent area to a productive peace time society. We need to protect both the industry and workers from job interruptions and layoffs.

The tax credit is not directly related to my strategy on the defense issue. However, if we hope to turn some of these military installations into peace time businesses, we need to offer the tax incentives as an entitlement.

The first challenge is to get the industries to stay in America. Then we have to do everything possible to get them to locate in South Mississippi.

The bottom line is that the tax credit will directly relate to the ability of a person to earn a living in South Mississippi. And it will help create better job opportunities for high school and college students when they graduate.

Mississippi spent $2 billion educating its children last year. The biggest thing you and I can do as parents is to make sure they have the opportunity to make a return on the investment.

Secondly, at a time when everyone is talking about budget cuts, I'm for making the most of the money spent here.

I support a Balanced Budget Amendment and basic forms of fiscal reform. The Balanced Budget Amendment would require the president to submit and the Congress to pass a balanced budget. This sounds simple, but it has been more difficult for legislators and presidents than you think.

For more than 25 years, the government has spent more money than it takes in in taxes. Last year alone, the federal government spent $150 billion dollars it did not have. It borrowed $100 billion from foreign banks. It paid interest to those banks.

As much as $1.3 billion came to this state from the federal government last year. To the average Mississippian this might not mean much, but a state legislator knows it translates to a 1/3 of the state's budget.

In general, I'm also opposed

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

by Sen. Vic Franckiewicz Jr.

Bingo, lottery big issue in state

The big issue in Jackson this week was the lottery and bingo. The Hinds County Circuit Court ruled that bingo is a lottery and is, therefore, unconstitutional.

The ruling, as it stands now, is binding only in Hinds County, but it is only a matter of time before it will cover the rest of the state.

Along with Rep. J. P. Compretta, I met with Attorney General Mike Moore to discuss how to deal with bingo. Based on our meeting, it is clear to me that Section 98 of Mississippi's Constitution is an absolute prohibition on lotteries in any form, including bingo. The only way to permit bingo in Mississippi is by a constitutional amendment.

I introduced an amendment on the Senate floor during the lottery debate. The amendment would allow the voters of Mississippi to decide if bingo should be legal. Unfortunately, that amendment was defeated along with the right to vote on the lottery.

These issues may be reconsidered later, but it is unlikely that the lottery bill will pass. Legalizing bingo has a better chance of passing under Senate Concurrent Resolution 537, which I introduced Monday. This resolution is still in committee.

I respect those who hold deep convictions against the lottery or against bingo. They have many sound reasons to oppose gambling.

However, none of these reasons justify denying the people the right to vote on their own constitution to deal with the subject of gambling. I believe that this decision rightfully belongs in the hands of the people.

Dealing with more routine matters, Jan. 15 was the first major deadline of this session. This was the deadline for introduction of general bills and constitutional amendments.

Exempt from this deadline are bills which deal with money or local and private bills which affect only a county or municipality.

This year, more than 1,300 bills were introduced by the deadline. This is a record in the Senate, and I understand that the House of Representatives also has a record-setting year.

The majority of our time for the next two weeks will be spent in committee meetings rather than in debating bills on the Senate floor. Any general bill or constitutional amendment which is not reported out of committee favorably by Jan. 30 will be dead for this session.

I would like to report on two bills which have already been reported out of committee and passed the Senate last week.

One grants a pay raise to state employees by funding the Variable Compensation Plan's "realignment" component which raises salaries to keep them in line with salaries of similar jobs in the private sector.

The bill also grants a five percent of $75 per month across-the-board raise, whichever is greater. Further, if money is available through abolishment or downgrading of vacant positions a three percent productivity raise may be awarded at the discretion of the agency supervisor.

This bill will cost about $36 million in state funds. The bill now goes to the House of Representatives.

Another bill amends the road hunting law. It does not change the prohibition against shooting from a road. It does provide that during deer season only in areas where game is likely to be found, a person having a loaded gun on a road or road right-of-way without permission to be on either side of the road may be considered as hunting.

In this scenario, the burden of proof that the person is not hunting falls upon the person with the gun. However, if the person has permission to be on either side of the road, the burden of proof that the person is hunting would be on the law enforcement officer.

The penalty would be a minimum of $250 fine with maximum of $500 and/or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than 60 days nor more than six months.

This bill addresses the many complaint I've received about the dangers of illegal road hunting, but it preserves the rights of all law-abiding sportsmen.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives.

I would be glad to receive your input on any issues. You may call me at 359-3770 and leave a message and I will return your call, or you may write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215-1018. You can reach me on weekends at my home, 467-2399.

Swap

forest's Leaf River Management area, for 16,000 acres of land in Colorado is a bad trade. Other opponents agree.

They feel tanks will have an adverse impact on wildlife and forestry.

Proponents of the trade are saying that the land is needed in order to expand Camp Shelby by providing additional areas for tank training maneuvers.

Taylor said he feels that the people living in the Camp Shelby area are mostly for the swap, while the opposition is concentrated down here on the coast.

"I really am pleased that the people are so concerned about the environment. I think that's great," the congressman said.

"I hope they will balance that with the need to maintain strong national defense and keep the economy going in South Mississippi."

Taylor feels that those who are upset about the swap do not actually understand the situation. He pointed out that there are only a few private home sites which would be affected and that "deer hunting will not be affected one iota," saying that the forest area involved in the swap would be closed to the public only about 60 days each year.

He described the swap as "merely a title exchange from one government entity to another."

In addition, he called citizens who have started rumors that Camp Shelby will become a storage facility for nuclear waste "irresponsible" and stated that federal law prohibits the use of the camp for anything other than military training and public recreation.

Although the president does have the power to order storage of nuclear waste at military facilities, Taylor believes that he can not do so because he would never receive support from Congress or the public should he propose to do so.

The congressman said the swap itself is not actually the issue.

"The issue is, do we allow Camp Shelby to grow in order to protect the 1,000 jobs there? It's in a depressed area, these are good-paying jobs and the current administration is trying to shut down the defense industry," said Taylor, a member of the Armed Services Committee.

"I am trying to keep Camp Shelby from being closed," he said, explaining that $180 billion in cuts in the defense budget has been proposed for the next three years, on top of cuts made last year.

Also, there is a proposal that the current defense budget be cut in half within the next 10 years.

"I support only a 32,000 acre title exchange, not a larger land grab," Taylor said, referring to rumors that the swap is a forerunner of efforts by the army to take all of the 116,000 acres currently under lease.

He said he supports continued public access to the land in question and is opposed to any thinning of trees other than that needed for tank maneuvers.

Kulick said his organization feels the land swap will devastate the timber crop and harm endangered species which live in the area, including the red-capped woodpecker and the gopher tortoise.

He cited the Leaf River Management Area as the oldest and one of the most successful management areas in the state, particularly for the breeding of deer, turkey and rabbits, and said that even if the military adds acreage from outside the forest to help make up for land taken in the swap, that land would be difficult to manage because it is currently in private hands.

In addition, he said the group feels that the environmental impact statement will be inadequate and that the army does want to take the full 116,000 acres.

"The Department of Defense is marketing it with the congressional delegation by saying we are going to profit the area more than the timber sales presently do. On paper it sounds real good, but in reality, we will probably end up losing money locally because of the swap."

Also, the land in Colorado, located in Pinyon Canyon, is worth about $137 an acre, while the Mississippi land has a better quality of timber and is worth about $1,455 per acre, according to Kulick.

Kulick said the Sierra Club, which has 300 members on the coast and about 1,000 statewide, will do all it can to block the swap.

"The National Guard's claim that Camp Shelby will close if they don't get the land is nothing more than extortion. They are using unsubstantiated threats to blackmail the to free trade because I believe it takes business from our nation and our district. I'm opposed to granting foreign aid to a country if the United States has to borrow money to grant that aid.

And I'm opposed to Congress giving itself pay raises. We can't expect government to function within its means if its individual members do not.

In 1989, members of the House voted 252 to 174 to increase their salary by $30,000 in the next three years. I voted against the pay increases and will donate the difference between my salary when elected and the new salary to fund student scholarships to junior colleges.

I will continue to oppose pay increases for Congress and to support measures that encourage the Congress to be more responsible with taxpayers' money.

I am not discouraged by the national debt or the president's proposed defense cuts. One important thing to remember is that both are man made problems.

And I'm certain that the citizens in their wisdom can find a solution to improve the economy. I certainly am doing my best for South Mississippi and I welcome your input and suggestions on this matter.

Edwards, consumer services representative with the chain's Jacksonville, Fla. office.

The episode of Legionnaires' disease in Louisiana has claimed at least two lives and another 32 people were diagnosed as having the disease.

The systems were used to prolong the freshness of produce items by continually spraying them with a fine water aerosol. It is believed the victims contracted the disease by inhaling mist produced by the system that was contaminated with the bacteria responsible for the disease.

Since removal of the misters, Winn-Dixie stores have been spraying their produce with garden-type hoses.

"We've returned to the system we used 50 years ago," Edwards said.

Most supermarkets utilize some type of misting system in their produce departments. The system used at the 97

Winn-Dixie stores, however, was different in that it drew water from a one-quart reservoir. The Legionnaires' bacteria thrives in standing water.

Tests were performed on all the misters removed from Winn-Dixie stores. The only system found to contain the bacteria was at the store in Bogalusa, Edwards said.

No stores in the Mobile-based Delchamps chain, that has a store in Waveland, have used the mister system, according to company officials.

The spray system in the National Food Store in Waveland draws water directly from the city's water line, and does not include a reservoir like the one implicated in Bogalusa, said store manager John Kanny.

Jitney Jungle in Bay St. Louis keeps their highly perishable produce items on ice and sprays them with a hose periodically according to manager John Harris.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

'100 Years of Feeding the Flock' (and doing it quite well and tastefully, let me add) is the subtitle of my newest culinary treasure, The Centennial Celebration Cookbook which Mary and Charlie Breath gave me for Christmas, and which I've been reading with relish—and using with oh-so-good results!

This delightful book, published by Christ Episcopal Church, Bay St. Louis, in honor of the hundredth anniversary of the church's founding, is packed with good and interesting recipes from cover to cover, some treasured family keepsakes, others newer recipes.

The women—and the men—of Christ Church have through the years achieved an enviable reputation locally as gourmet chefs, and there's always a full house at their annual Silver Teas and Harvest Dinners and other benefits. Recipes from these are included in the cookbook: such delights as Tea Time Tassies (without which no gala Southern tea party would be complete) and Mini Cheesecakes, for example; also Harvest Dinner specials such as Spinach Casserole, Cranberry Relish, Sweet Potato Casserole.

There's even a special low-cal Big House Squash Casserole, "that's always served at the Episcopal Church Women board meetings"—and, at the other end of the gastronomic pole, a "Chocolate Almond Pie" sinfully rich!

The seafood section is worth the price of the book all by itself.

including such treats as the famed Crab and Shrimp Biscuits, original recipe developed for the Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival of 1987; along with stuffed crabs, oyster pie and shrimp and trout and flounder recipes, among others.

There's a recipe for Chicken with Horseradish Sauce, for Baked Spanish Steak Baroness, and an excellent dessert section as well. As the foreword puts it, the book is "dedicated to all cooks" for "in our homes today, as always, life is centered around the kitchen."

So, if you want to join me in "eating your way through 100 years of Christ Church's best recipes" that's easy to do (but you can't have my copy! I'm too busy enjoying it and using it).

This cookbook (Morris Press) in a handsome three-ring loose-leaf binder, is available from the Cookbook Committee, Christ Episcopal Church, 912 South Beach, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520 for $10 per copy plus $2.50 per book for shipping and handling.

To tease your tastebuds, here are a few recipes from the book:

Pepper, salt to taste
Put peeled shrimp in whatever quantity you wish, on individual stake platters or on cookie sheet. Add blobs of butter and slices of garlic, to your taste, atop. Put under broiler several minutes, turn shrimp and broil several more minutes. Remove, add a bit of cheese to each shrimp and top with a pecan half. Return to oven and broil just until cheese is melted. Surround with mashed potatoes and broccoli.

and:
MARY BREATH'S
STUFFED CRABS
2 lg. onions, minced fine
1 clove garlic, minced fine
1 Tblsp. shortening
1 lb. crab meat
1 Tblsp. minced parsley
2 bay leaves
1 Tblsp. salt
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
Sprig of thyme
1 Tblsp. chopped celery
1/2 loaf French bread, or about 6 slices toast

1 egg
1/4 cup evaporated milk/
Butter
Fry onions and garlic in shortening until brown, add crab meat and seasoning and celery. Let fry for 10 or 15 minutes. Wet the bread or toast with water and squeeze in the hand to remove excess water. Add to the above. Beat the egg and add it, stirring well. Add the milk and stir until the mixture is dry. Place in shells, dot with butter and brown in a 350 degree oven for 19 or 15 minutes. (Makes about 8)

And, another version is:
SUZANNE TRUETT'S
BAKED STUFFED CRAB
1 small onion, chopped
1 scallion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1/4 lb. butter
4 Tblsp. flour
3 cups milk
1 tsp. mustard
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 lb. crab meat
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Saute onion, scallion, garlic in butter for 5 minutes, blend in flour, gradually add milk, stirring constantly, to the boiling point. Add mustard and Worcestershire, then crab meat. Let cool. Divide mixture into six ramekins or crab shells, and sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes or until browned. (Six servings).

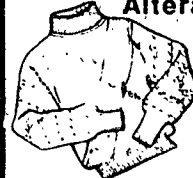

And, how can I resist closing with:

RUTH CARLSON'S
CHOCOLATE ALMOND PIE
20 regular-sized marshmallows
4 or 5 Hershey chocolate almond bars
2/3 cup milk
1/2 pt. whipping cream
1 baked pie shell
Combine marshmallows, chocolate bars and milk in top of double boiler, and heat over hot—NOT boiling water—until melted. Cool, and fold whipped cream into the cooled mixture. Pour into baked shell. Chill for two hours, or overnight.

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

Some of you readers out there may remember Ray Guy when he was an All-American at USM and later when he was an All-Pro punter with the Oakland Raiders.

At a kick-off luncheon in Biloxi Wednesday, Guy was named the honorary coach for Mississippi Special Olympics, which is preparing for its summer games, May 11-13, this year's event will be hosted by Keesler Air Force Base.

There are a number of Special Olympics volunteers here in Hancock County, so The Sea Coast Echo will be providing further information about this summer's competition as plans progress.

I have photographed a couple of Special Olympics events and have talked with some of the youngsters involved. It isn't difficult to see the kind of confidence just being able to compete gives these kids.

The volunteers I know have told me it's hard work, but it's well worth it.

Bureau of Marine Resources will conduct several public hearings regarding proposed changes in redfish and cobia (monofish) limits. The local hearing will be at 7 p.m. Feb. 1 at the Hancock County Courthouse.

Ron Grove, BMR's spokesman, said the speakers at the hearing are expected to include fisheries biologists from BMR and Gulf Coast Research Lab.

The proposal on cobia is two 33-inch (fork length) fish per person per day. No specific proposal is being presented for redfish but public input is needed.

Also on the subject of fishing, the Louisiana Bass Tournament Association will host a singles bass tourney Jan. 21 on the East Pearl River. The event begins at the Highway 90 launch.

Entry fee for the event, the first of five tournaments this year, is $45 per person and will be accepted up to the tournament day.

I know a lot of Hancock County residents who fish in Louisiana, so you may be interested in the dates for the other tournaments: March 18, May 20, July 22 and Sept. 23.

For rules and registration information, call Dick Welch at (504) 643-4855 or write to LBTA, 3434 Timothy Drive, Slidell, LA 70458.

The Long Beach YMCA and Gulf Coast Running Club are hosting the third annual 10K Winter Classic Jan. 27. There will be a 9 a.m. start with late registration from 8 a.m. until 8:45.

Forms for early registration can be obtained at the YMCA, located on Pineville Road, or by calling Cindy Archer at 864-1223 or Lindo Sullivan at 832-6071.

There's also a two-mile run/walk if you're not ready for a 10K, and after the race, the use of the Y facilities will be free to all runners.

That sounds like a nice offer to me because I think there's nothing better than a shower after a run of any distance, but the people I admire are those who can make it through a 10K and still want to go to the workout room after the race. All I can say is that they're in better shape than I am.

Congratulations to Mallory Mestayer on finishing fourth in the recent Orange Bowl Regatta. Mestayer, who has been sailing for a number of years, is a member of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and represented Mississippi and Louisiana in the junior division of the international competition, along with fellow Bay-Waveland member Joann Mestayer.

It was Mallory's second year to compete in the three-day regatta and Joann's first.

Mallory's next big trip will be to the South American Championships in Ecuador in April.

Items for Time Out should be sent to The Sea Coast Echo at P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520 or submitted by telephone at 467-5474. Deadline is Tuesday afternoon.

SPORTS

Bay Area Youth Soccer begins spring season

Bay Area Youth Soccer has begun the spring season with a series of games with the Gulf Coast Leagues competing in the older age groups and in girls' competition.

The regular spring season for the BAYS League will begin the first weekend in February, except for Under-8 and Under-6 age groups, which will begin competition in mid-February.

The regular BAYS spring season will end the weekend of March 31.

There will be a coaches' meeting at St. Clare School cafeteria at 7 p.m. for BAYS coaches to receive their spring games schedule.

All coaches are urged to attend this meeting to get their schedules and to be briefed on district rule changes.

There will be a BAYS Linesmen School conducted on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21 at 1:30 p.m. at the Waveland Library and at the Coleman Avenue Soccer Field.

The class will last approximately four hours and will consist of lecture and field work. This is a beginners course and is a good pre-requisite and a review for those individuals later desiring to take the USSF Entry-Level Referees course.

Anyone age 10 and older interested in becoming a BAYS lineman should attend. There is no charge for this course. For additional information, contact Richard Flowers at 467-0474.

Whoppers lose to Sonics

The Burger King Whoppers Under 14 Boys soccer team opened the spring season Saturday, Jan. 14 against the Orange Grove Sonics.

The Whoppers, coached by Leo Laurent and Jody Gex, played the first quarter without a score by either team.

The second quarter Whoppers goal was scored by Michael Pernicaro after a fine offensive effort by the front line, according to Laurent.

The Sonics, coached by Ed Keels, tied the game late in the quarter. Following a scoreless third quarter, the Sonics scored twice to defeat the Whoppers, 3-1.

Laurent credited goalie Corey Gex and David Heitzmann with fine saves throughout the game.

Protest resolved, Pass Yacht Club gets Lipton Cup

The Lipton Cup has been awarded to the Pass Christian Yacht Club following a protest that delayed determination of the winner of the regatta for four months.

Pass Christian, which won the regatta for the first time in 1989, after 69 previous tries, was involved in a controversy about the length of a jib tack pendant and whether the part was too short under the Flying Scot rules that govern the Lipton.

The Flying Scot used by the Pass Christian crew was disqualified and the title was awarded to one of the clubs which had joined in the protest, Ponchatrain Yacht Club. Pass Christian filed an appeal and was granted redress by the protest committee.

The matter then went to the race committee at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, which had hosted the 1989 Lipton, but Ponchatrain Yacht Club appealed the committee decision and the controversy was passed on to Gulf Yachting Association.

The association committee did not grant redress and Ponchatrain Yacht Club agreed to drop its protest on Dec. 16.

Rocks defeat Tigers in soccer

On Friday night, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws defeated a tough local rival, the Bay High Tiger soccer team, 3-0.

"Both teams played exceptionally well despite the slippery field conditions," stated Stanislaus Coach Mark Foley.

"This was our first game after returning from the Christmas holidays, and the team really worked as a good cohesive unit." "We were disappointed at the cancellation of the game against Ocean Springs, which was to be played Tuesday, but the guys proved that they did not need a non-league warmup game; they've just jumped right back into the driver's seat," the coach said.

The SSC squad was sparked by an early first half goal by Andrew Williams assisted by David Eckert. This really "awakened both teams," stated Foley. The tempo of play picked up from that point onward, continuing throughout the remainder of the first half. Both teams traded possession with much teamwork being displayed to move the ball in both directions.

The second half opened with the SSC team dominating ball control, which led to two successive goals for the Rock-A-Chaws midway through the second half. The second SSC goal was scored by Jonathan Compretta, assisted by Brian Brooks, while the third SSC goal was booted in by Trey Kidd.

In the junior varsity game, which preceded the varsity contest, the SSC squad defeated the opponent Tiger squad 2-0, with both goals for St. Stanislaus being scored by John Rutherford assisted by Michael Hargett and Darrin Rose, respectively.

The SSC record is now 5-2 overall and 3-2 in league play. "We have the opportunity to vie for a bid to the state playoffs, but we must maintain the intensity of play and the enthusiasm to win," stated Coach Foley.

SSC will continue in their bid as a play-off contender this Friday in Gulfport.

Raiders extend winning streak

On Tuesday night the Coast Episcopal Raiders extended their winning streak to five games and improved their season record to 14-11 with a 57-46 victory over Harvest High School of Hammond, La.

The Raiders, who trailed 10-5 after the first period, outscored the Warriors 52-36 in the final three periods behind the balanced scoring attack of the entire team.

Senior forward Billy Guice led the way with 17 points, followed by junior Bruce Hull with 16, and freshman Tyrone Jones with 13. Sophomore Dave Hagan came off the bench to can six with senior Hutson Lambert adding three. Senior Scott Covode and freshman Nathan Guice each tossed in two.

"We came into this game coming off a big emotional win over Evange of Mobile on Saturday," said Coach Jack Hutchison.

"I thought we would be a little bit flat, but the kids woke up and did what it took to win."

In the B-team contest senior Scott Covode and junior Paul Bernadas each scored 13 points to power the Raiders over the Warriors 46-13. The win kept the Raiders undefeated as they now post a 7-0 record.

The Raiders return home this Friday night as they take on Pine Hills. Pine Hills defeated the Raiders 69-33 in the second game of the season. Tip off time is set for 7:00 p.m.

On Saturday, the Raiders play Trinity Episcopal School from Natchez at 1 p.m. Both games will be played at the CEHS gym on Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

The Raiders picked up three big wins over the weekend defeating Bible Baptist of Gulfport 50-42, Faith Academy from Theodore 60-58, and Evange of Mobile 64-42.

In the Bible Baptist game, junior Bruce Hull led the way with 18 points followed by freshman Tyrone Jones with 11 and senior Jamie White with 10.

Against Faith, Hull again led the way with 18, including a 17-foot game-winning jumper with just 15 seconds left on the clock. Sophomore Dave Hagan tossed in 13 with Jamie White canning 11.

In Mobile on Saturday night the Raiders avenged an earlier season loss to Evange behind 20 points from freshman Tyrone Jones. Evange had defeated the Raiders by 26 points earlier in the year.

"This win over Evange is a big one for us," said Coach Jack Hutchison. "We proved to ourselves we can play."

Other scorers for the Raiders were Jamie White with 16, sophomore Chris Painter with 11, senior Billy Guice with 10 and Bruce Hull with six.

Coast Episcopal High School senior Jamie White scored 38 points and freshman Tyrone Jones added 18 points as Coast Episcopal rallied from a 12-7 first quarter deficit and soundly defeated Oak Park Academy of Mobile 57-31.

The Raiders, who went the first six minutes of the game without scoring, used a full count zone press to take control of the contest.

Additional scoring came from senior Billy Guice with five points and from sophomore Dave Hagan with four points.

Coast Episcopal led 24-16 at halftime and then opened up a 40-24 lead after three periods.

White pulled down 11 rebounds for the Raiders with Jones grabbing seven.

"This was the first time we had the opportunity to really run our press, and it paid off for us," said Coach Jack Hutchison. The press is something we worked on during the holidays, and I think it caught them off guard.

In the B-team game, the Raiders ran their record to 6-0 on the season with a 24-14 victory.

Dave Hagan led the way tossing in 20 points with seventh graders Marty VanderNoot and Tim Gormley each adding two points.

HERCULE POIROT

Pitting his famed "little grey cells" against murderers, kidnappers, embezzlers and poisoners, a new Hercule Poirot, Agatha Christie's Belgian super-sleuth in the person of British character actor David Suchet, will unfold nine perplexing mysteries beginning Thursday, Jan. 18 on Mississippi ETV, at 9 p.m.

Ms. Christie introduced the eccentric and egotistical detective in her first novel, The Mysterious Affair at Styles. She featured him in some 25 novels and many short stories before she returned him to Styles in 1975 in the novel, Curtain, in which he died. Dame Agatha died a year later.

Critics have hailed Suchet's performance and described this series of suspenseful adventures as "nail-chewing, edge-of-the-sofa stuff."

"Mystery!" is rebroadcast every Sunday evening at 10 on Mississippi ETV.

Fishermen's input sought for prediction system

The National Marine Fisheries Service announced its plans to make a sophisticated fisheries prediction system available to the fishing community via commercial television broadcasts.

The system combines satellite images of sea surface temperature with other known data such as bottom contour, depth and obstructions to produce an environmentally correct model of the Gulf of Mexico.

Oceanographers are then able to integrate their knowledge of marine fish behavior with the model to produce an artificial intelligence system for predicting high probability fishing areas for specific species.

According to principal investigator Tom Leming, the system was originally developed to be used as a tool for identifying latent marine resources such as butterfish, coastal herrings and other fish species in the Gulf of Mexico.

As the potential for commercialization of the system became apparent, a joint project was initiated between the National Marine Fisheries Service, the State of Mississippi's Department of Economic Development, Mississippi Technology Transfer Office and Mississippi State University.

This new program was to refine the prediction model and commercially develop the system in order to encourage economic growth within the state or Mississippi.

The objective of the television broadcasts is to collect data from the users which will aid in evaluation and development of the system. Forms will be provided by mail to fishermen who will, in turn, record their catches. The forms will then be used for analysis and further refinement of the predictive model.

Each responding fisherman will receive by return mail, a color 8" x 10" photograph, suitable for framing, of the satellite image of the fishing area.

Fishermen interested in participating in the program should contact David DeBlanc, MTTT Building 1103, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529-6000, (601) 688-3828 or (601) 688-3144.

Rocks down Long Beach

The St. Stanislaus seventh and eighth grade basketball team defeated the Long Beach junior Bearcats, 43-29 last Saturday in Long Beach.

Junior Rock Shawn Williams led all scorers with 23 for SSC. "We played good team ball," Rock Coach Andy Kivlan said after the game. "Everyone got some valuable playing time."

"Our game is finally beginning to gel," he continued. "Mistakes are down and performance is up."

Using solid man-to-man defense, the junior Rocks held the Bearcats to 11 points in the first half, and allowed only 18 points to be scored in the second half.

Other leading scorers for the Rock-A-Chaws were Chad Peronne and Jason Jones with six each.

In action Thursday, the junior Rocks took on the visiting St. Martin Yellowjackets. The Jackets overcame an early Rock lead to take the game 28-24.

"The game was close until midway in the third quarter when St. Martin pulled ahead by nine," Kivlan commented.

The Rocks staged a comeback and pulled within one point with less than a minute to go, but came up just short.

"We played well," Kivlan said, "especially since this was our first game in three weeks. The boys have made vast improvements since the beginning of the season when we first met St. Martin. We lost that game by 18 and were never really in the game."

Heart disease isn't the nation's leading killer.

Denying the symptoms is.

Don't deny yourself a longer, fuller life.

You can deny the symptoms of heart disease, but it won't go away. Your symptoms may pass, but the damage goes on. Often until it's too late.

Be especially alert to the symptoms of a heart attack. Chest pain and pressure are the most common. Pain may radiate down your arm, shoulders or neck. There's also shortness of breath. Cold sweat. Dizziness. Faintness and nausea.

Sometimes only a few symptoms occur. Sometimes more. Sometimes the symptoms can even be due to another problem.

Only one thing is certain. The sooner heart problems are treated, the better your chance of recovering to live a normal, healthy life.

That's why we're here. The Heart Emergency Service at NorthShore Regional Medical Center is the first of its kind in this area. Located in our Emergency Department, we save lives by detecting heart problems rapidly and providing necessary treatment.

If you experience any symptoms of a heart attack, get immediate medical attention. Anytime, day or night you can call our emergency 24-Hour Heartline at 1-800-HEART13. An emergency care professional is available around the clock to answer questions, give advice or even dispatch an ambulance if necessary.

The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers a complete range of cardiac care services. That's important to you during those first critical hours following a heart attack. And although you'll probably never need them, it's good to know our heart team is available 24 hours a day.

We employ powerful clot-dissolving drugs. Drugs that can save lives by stopping and, in some instances, actually reversing the effects of heart attacks. But the sooner these drugs are administered the better the chance of a complete recovery.

And advanced diagnostic capabilities, including our state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization laboratory, help us assess and treat heart problems more accurately and effectively than ever.

We also offer educational programs that help people prevent heart attacks, and rehabilitation services that help heart patients recover faster and more fully.

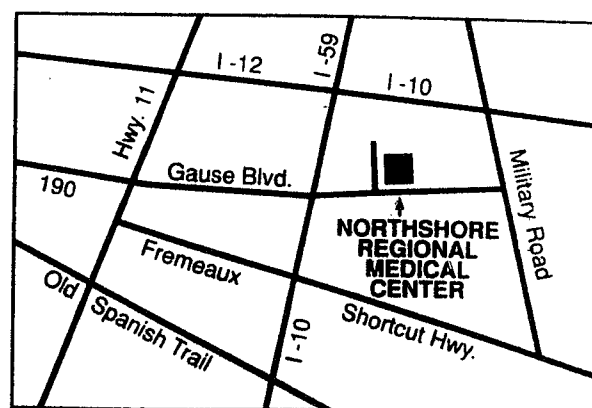

Learn more about The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center by calling (504) 641-MDMD and we'll send you a free brochure that describes our cardiac care services in greater detail.

Remember, don't deny any symptoms of a heart attack. If you have symptoms, go to the nearest hospital emergency department. If you're close to NorthShore Regional Medical Center, use the Heart Emergency Service in our Emergency Department located just east of Interstate 10 on 190 - Exit 266 - Gause Boulevard. Or call the 24-Hour Heartline at 1-800-HEART13. Don't delay. Because self-denial is hazardous to your health.

Seniors helping seniors

'Meals on Wheels' program uses volunteers to deliver hot lunches

BY JANET MCQUEEN
"Meals on Wheels" provides hot, nutritionally balanced lunches five days a week to homebound senior citizens.

The federally funded program operates on volunteer manpower, relying on local citizens to assemble and deliver the meals which are cooked in Wiggins.

The Senior Citizens Center on Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis is the assembly site, where a small group of dedicated volunteers await the daily arrival of the Valley Foods truck from Stone County.

Site manager Tuleter Oliver reports 33 meals are delivered each Monday through Friday, the maximum number approved for Hancock County. More volunteers are needed to assist with delivery.

All of the volunteers are themselves senior citizens and are susceptible to illness, especially during the cold winter months. Some days Oliver finds herself without any help to run the route, which covers Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"We could really use at least three volunteers each day," said Oliver. "At present, we have nine persons helping—seven men and two women."

Waveland resident Les Galivan, 81, has assisted with Meals on Wheels for "close to 15 years". He insists "keeping busy keeps me young", while serving meals to shut-ins who are often many years his junior. Galivan, who recently celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary, volunteers three days a week.

Hancock County resident Gene Garcia delivers meals on Fridays, along with Elden Thomas. Garcia found out about the program when his wife was enrolled in art classes at the Senior Citizens Center.

"There is a need for people to do things like this," he said. Thomas concurred, noting it is a little spare time well spent.

"A lot of people don't know this need exists. Some of these elderly people don't have any family members nearby to help them, or they have outlived their families," said Oliver.

On more than one occasion, a Meals on Wheels volunteer has arrived to deliver lunch to find a bedridden patient lying on the floor, unable to move. Sometimes, other than South Mississiippi Home Health visiting nurses, the volunteers are the only daily contact with the outside world.

Oliver and her assistants attempt to brighten the day for the elderly patients by enclosing "lagniappe" such as fresh flowers or seasonal holiday favors. Food donated to the center by area residents is also distributed. On Monday, a federal holiday, bag lunches were provided.

In addition to Galivan, Garcia and Thomas, volunteers include Talmadge Conway, Warren Norton, Raymond Norton, Joe Levy, Andrew Voelkel, Helen Morris and Earlene Morangue.

Assisting Oliver in the kitchen are Wilma Musser and Leona Fricke.

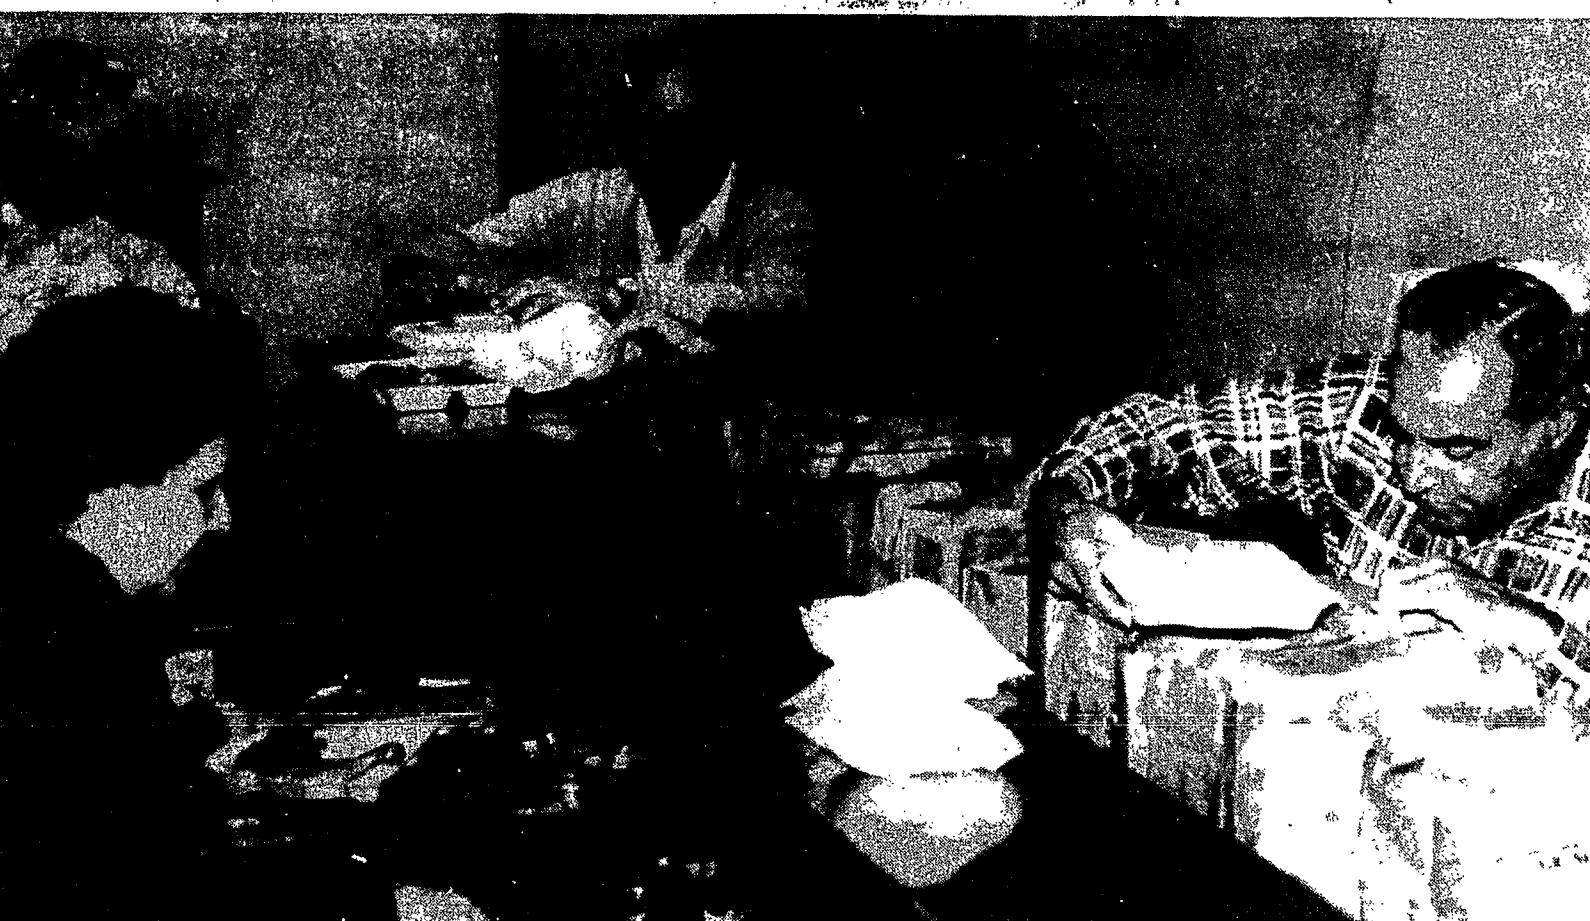

Anyone wishing to volunteer may contact JoAnn Lagasse, Retired Senior Volunteer Program coordinator, at 467-9204, or Oliver at 467-9292 for additional information.

Statewide survey will target health education for needy

Beginning this month, the Mississippi State Department of Health will conduct monthly statewide surveys on the health and safety practices of Mississippi people.

The survey is part of the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS).

Survey coordinator Ellen Jones, director of health promotion and education for the Department of Health, said survey results will help target health education activities to people with greatest needs.

Knowing about people's health and safety practices will also help identify better ways to reach those target audiences. Survey results will keep public health professionals posted on trends in health behaviors.

Each month, surveyors will telephone 130 adult Mississippians. They'll ask questions about such health behaviors as smoking, seat belt use, child safety, and nutrition. The questions, Jones said, "relate to preventable illness and death, which are related to lifestyle."

The random survey involves calls—which take about 10 minutes each—during the day, evening, and weekend hours to get an adequate, accurate sampling. No names will be used, and all answers will be kept completely confidential.

Jones said the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta pays for BRFSS. Mississippi State Department of Health contracted with Southern Research Group to conduct the monthly surveys and trained all interviewers.

"We'll need about a year's worth of data before we have enough information to use," Jones said. "Then we can share the results with other state agencies, voluntary organizations, and community groups who also need the information."

More information is available by calling Ellen Jones at 960-7499 or Health Communications and Public Affairs, 960-7667.

Hancock County schools unveil 'Channel One' satellite programs

Commercialism will come to Hancock County Schools when more than 50 television sets, complete with educational programming for grades 7-12, are installed in the spring.

The new Junior/Senior Hancock High School will receive a 1.2 meter satellite dish, receiver/amplifier, two central VCRs, equipment storage cabinet, more than 50 TV sets, and all necessary wiring.

The district is one of approximately 500 across the country taking advantage of an offer called "Channel One." The Educational Network was developed by Whittle Communications as a comprehensive, three-channel communications system. It is being offered free to high schools and middle schools nationally.

The three channels of the Education Network are:

Channel One is a daily, 12-minute news and information program designed for students and shown in the classroom. Its dynamic format, using teenage hosts and state-of-the-art graphics, helps make current national and world events relevant to students.

The Educators' Channel was developed in response to discussions with national educator groups and associations. Access to this channel will be provided to educator groups who wish to provide programming to inform fellow professionals and their support groups about trends and events in their field.

The Classroom Channel will provide to participating schools up to 1,000 hours of commercial-free instructional support yearly. The Classroom Channel will provide all satellite time and $500,000 yearly in usage fees. Educational television offerings will be selected by an independent national board.

Approximately 250 programs will be supplied annually followed by research, evaluation and utilization studies to help enhance the classroom video experience.

The program service falls into three main categories:

General Interest: Multi-disciplinary programs that range from biographies to public affairs which will be scheduled, where possible, by themes such as Minority Issues or Future Technologies.

Instructional Programs: Curriculum-based single programs, one-time specials, series or series samplers provided they have stand-alone merit.

Showcase: The "flex" category of the service to include late-breaking news-driven specials and student videos as well as previews of series available the following semester, thereby allowing teachers time to order curriculum materials direct from distributors or through local public TV station instructional television personnel.

Administrators of Hancock County Schools agree that it is sound educational programming that could not otherwise be provided to students in the school system.

'Children in the Arts' winners named

Coast Episcopal Schools and Pepsi Cola of Gulfport sponsored the third annual "Children in the Arts" Contest. The theme of this year's contest was "The Earth Is a Paradise," and was open to students in grades four through eight in all public, parochial and private schools along the Gulf Coast.

Thirty-five schools participated this year, and each selected three winners from their students and submitted their work for judging.

The judges for this year's contest were Dr. Jeff R. Bowman and William Baggett, both professors of art at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg. They selected one grand prize winner from each class and awarded honorable mention to other work they felt was exceptional.

Selected as grand prize winners were Maria Tor, fourth grade, Coast Episcopal Elementary; Nathan Griffith, fifth grade, Beauvoir Elementary; Kathryn Minor, sixth grade, Westminster Academy; Binh Nguyen, seventh grade, Michel Middle; and Johnny Gonzales, eighth grade, Michel Middle.

Receiving honorable mention were fourth grade students Blanca Baquero-Cruz, DuKane Elementary; Jennifer Gollott, Cedar Lake Christian Academy; and Mara Saccoccia, Coast Episcopal, and in the fifth grade Andrew Jackson, Bayou View Elementary.

In the sixth grade, receiving honorable mention were Brooke Riley, Westminster; Michelle Snow, St. John Catholic Elementary; and Jason Sonnier, Sacred Heart Elementary, and in the seventh grade, Trudy Blackwell, Bayou View Junior High.

Eighth grade recipients were John Benne, Michel Middle; Melvinica Grace, Dawn McCrory and Tony McInnis all from Central Junior High.

The winning students from all 35 schools participated in a day-long workshop held at Coast Episcopal Elementary School.

Ten artists volunteered their time to this project, Terry O'Dell, clay sculpture; Joida Evans, drawing and Japanese brush painting; Joey Rice, paper and fabric collage; Patt Odom, drawing and paper collage; printing; Jimmy Williams, cartooning; Nancy McCardell, clay; and Anne Lynch, painting animals on rocks.

Terry Blake Edwards, using color in painting; Kerr Grubowski, silkscreening; Elizabeth Brasnett, linoleum block

USM doctoral program to be offered at Stennis

A new doctoral program designed to create a "well-educated pool of marine science professionals working in politics, economics and scientific research" will be launched next fall by the University of Southern Mississippi.

The state College Board approved the program in December, clearing the way for USM's Center for Marine Science (CMS) to initiate doctoral-level classes from its base at the Stennis Space Center in Hancock County.

"The impact of current economic activity requires that Mississippi have a well-educated pool of marine science professionals working in politics, economics and scientific research," said Dr. George Knauer, director of the marine science center since 1985.

vice president for research and sponsored programs, said Knauer's team of "nationally and internationally recognized scientists and educators" in marine science will work closely with scientists at the USM-administered Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs and with major research units already in place at the NASA center near Bay St. Louis.

"We are delighted with the endorsement of the doctoral program in marine science by the Board of Trustees," said Yarborough. "This will permit us to be even more effective in addressing local problems in marine and coastal environments."

According to Yarborough and Knauer, students enrolled in the new doctoral program will have an opportunity to pursue emphasis areas in biological, chemical, geological and physical oceanography—and in several related areas of study, including fisheries and environmental science.

During the course of their graduate studies, students also will have an opportunity to work with state-of-the-art equipment currently housed in the laboratories and classroom at SSC, the GCRL and at USM.

The new PhD program—designed to be competitive with existing programs in the Gulf region—will draw its faculty from the USM center, from Navy and NASA oceanographers at SSC, from marine scientists working in a wide variety of disciplines at the GCRL in Ocean Springs, and from USM faculty in the College of Science and Technology on the Hattiesburg campus.

"It is clear that the new marine science degree program will have a tremendous influence on marine-related industries in the state by training qualified scientists to interact with those industries and to aid in decision-making processes designed to protect existing habitats," Knauer said.

Knauer said the center's graduates—including the first doctoral candidates, expected to graduate in 1993—will be prepared for jobs in academics, private industry, state and federal government offices, and in private research foundations.

USM officials predict 50 percent of the doctoral candidates entering the new program will come from students already enrolled in the center's master's program. Additional students are expected to be drawn from among some 5,000 space center employees and from outside recruiting efforts, which will target minorities.

A minimum of 84 semester hours beyond the bachelor's degree and 54 years beyond the master's degree will be required for the new three-year doctoral program, which was awarded to the CMS during the regular December, 1989, college board meeting.

In other December board actions, a master's program in public health also was awarded to USM. Approval of a proposed new doctoral program in computational science for USM, however, was delayed pending a study of the future needs of computer-related academic programs at USM, Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi.

Coast Guard has been ready to serve since 1790

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles detailing the history and functions of the United States Coast Guard in its bicentennial year.

On August 4 the United States Coast Guard will celebrate its bicentennial. Its long history of saving lives and protecting the interest of the American people is a story of change and dedication. The slogan "a little service with a big job" is even truer today than it was when it first began.

Unlike some federal organizations, the Coast Guard did not begin at any one time for any single purpose. Instead, today's Coast Guard is a collection of other federal organizations that no longer exist, most of them are long forgotten.

To tell the story of the Coast Guard is to think of the Coast Guard as being the chief agent for the promotion of a whole range of national purposes in the maritime arena.

The Coast Guard is tasked with the responsibility for safe and efficient marine transportation; the collection of national revenues; measures to enhance national security; and preservation of life and property at sea.

On August 4, 1790 Congress authorized the construction of 10 vessels and began the Revenue Cutter Service. Thus the Coast Guard was born to enforce customs and tariffs on maritime commerce. They battled pirates and privateers as well as smugglers and enforced quarantine laws proving their military capabilities.

As the country grew, more cutters joined the fleet in time to fight in the first war of the new nation, the Quasi-War with France. In the 1800 the Revenue Cutters fought in the War of 1812, the Mexican War, Civil War, and the Spanish American War.

As a historic fact, the Coast Guard has fought in every major war of the nation, including Vietnam and the Grenada Expedition.

In those same 1800's, the Bureau of Navigation and Steamship Inspection Service and the Life Saving Service were formed. Later, the Life Saving Service would join with the Revenue Cutter Service to form what was then named the "U.S. Coast Guard."

In 1939, the Lighthouse Service, whose origins preceded the Revenue Cutters, became part of the Coast Guard, and in 1942, the Bureau of Navigation and Steamship Inspection Service was also absorbed making the Coast Guard a true multi-mission service.

The famous cutters and their heroic crews during war and peace make up the Coast Guard's history.

The 1990 Bicentennial year is an important mile stone in the Coast Guards long history. All over the United States "Coasties" will be spreading the word about their rich history through newspaper articles and speaking engagements. They will be hoping to bring better understanding about the Coast Guard and the people in its service.

The Oldsmobile Edge

It's something called "total satisfaction." And it will be showing up on the face of everyone who buys a new 1990 Oldsmobile* in the United States.* Not just because they've made the smart decision to buy an Oldsmobile - which is satisfying enough in its own right. But because they'll be covered by an owner satisfaction plan unlike any in the business. The new Oldsmobile Edge. Which will give them plenty to smile about, at no extra charge.

1. Guaranteed Satisfaction

In our opinion, the 1990 Oldsmobiles are some of the most satisfying vehicles you can own today. And we think you'll agree. In fact, if you change your mind within 30 days or 1,500 miles* of purchase - whichever comes first, just bring it back. You'll be given credit toward the purchase of another new 1990 Oldsmobile.

2. Bumper-to-Bumper Plus

This covers your vehicle from - well, from bumper to bumper.** And it's all protected against defect in material or workmanship for three years or 50,000 miles. Which means you buy an Oldsmobile, you'll be protected in two ways: by the Bumper-to-Bumper Plus Warranty, and by the fact that you bought an Oldsmobile in the first place.

3. Roadside Assistance

Oldsmobile maintains a nationwide network of towing and repair facilities. So wherever you go, you're never far from Oldsmobile. And the best thing is, you can always reach us. Just call 24 hours a day on the toll-free hotline, and we'll send someone out to help at no extra charge!† For anything from an actual breakdown requiring simple repairs, to something requiring more involved assistance. Like locking your keys in the car.

For more details of the Oldsmobile Edge, call toll free 1 800 242 OLDS or visit your Oldsmobile dealer.

When you do so, chances are you'll realize why we can offer such an extraordinary program: because our vehicles are extraordinary to begin with. Which should explain why Oldsmobile owners will be going about with such broad smiles on their faces. And why, from now on, 1990 will be known as the beginning of a New Generation of Owner Satisfaction.
